

Modena Soft Cuff Bracelet

Designed by Trish Alger of Altered Pages

Gift-giving is not exclusive to the holidays. There are plenty of opportunities to bestow a blessing that you created. Handmade gifts were all the rage this year! Thank the hipsters for bringing crafting back in a big way.

Modena Soft Polymer Air Drying Clay is a wonderful product for many crafting needs. I was able to mold and cut this light and flexible clay to create cute cuff bracelets.

Designed by Trish Alger

To start I rolled a portion of the clay into a snake and then flattened it. At about an inch wide and 2/8 of an inch thick (this will flatten when you stamp it.)

Use a textured rubber stamp to press the clay into

Gently peel clay off of the rubber stamp and trim the edges until straight

Lay the strip of clay over a rounded surface to dry. I used the inside ring from a roll of tape.

Let it dry overnight. Punch 1-2 holes on each end for the fasteners. Fasteners could be Sari Silk Ribbon, or Fibers.

Add your fastener, some ephemera and enjoy!!

This great clay will accept many mediums. Choose either: Gelatos, Spray Inks, Paints, Mica Powders, or Pearlized Sprays.

After your medium of choice has dried on the cuff; use a thin polymer medium to seal it. Let it dry, until it is no longer tacky.
